

The Mail Ego

By Terrence O'Flaherty

"When television stations of them is McGoohan and he cancel their regular shows in the case of a national tragedy such as the shooting of Senator Robert Kennedy, do they lose money?"

Yes. Stations affiliated with national networks lose revenue from local commercials which are usually clustered around "station identifications" and they lose the fee paid to them for telecasting network commercials.

"What has happened to Dick Clark, the boy platter spinner who practically raised me on 'American Bandstand'?"

Clark is into everything from movies to TV syndication. His latest venture is a series of youth-oriented travel tours. All he needs is a mortuary to complete his cradle-to-grave enterprises.

"Don Ho's Hawaii" must have set Hawaiian tourism back 50 years. What a Holocaust!"

Fans of Hawaii love to look at anything Hawaiian whether it moves or not and particularly if it's in color. The avalanche of tourists first teased by Harry Owens and now by Don Ho isn't likely to be discouraged at anything short of a tidal wave.

"Oh my gosh! Who can be blamed for getting that marvelous Pat McGoohan involved in such a horrible and stupid program as 'The Prisoner'?" Who talked him into it should be tried for insanity. How long do we have to wait for a solution to the mystery?"

McGoohan takes all responsibility for the concept and the scripts. He was given a free hand in every part of the production but you may wait indefinitely for the solution. The series infuriated the British who saw it last year because it ended without a conclusion.

"I had always thought that missionaries were interested solely in selling Bibles and putting bras on the natives. Thanks to the excellent documentary 'In the Name of God,' my mind has been changed. To whom can I write to express my appreciation?"

Write John H. Secondari, ABC-TV, New York City.

"Who is the fascinating Britisher on the new ABC-TV evening news?"

His name is Malcolm Muggeridge, an internationally traveled reporter and a former editor of Punch who also writes a column for Esquire Magazine.

"Is this guy Pat Paulson serious about running for President?"

No, but he's serious about the publicity.

"Is Ricardo Montalban Spanish? Is he married to Loretta Young?"

Montalban was born in Mexico. He is now an American citizen and married to Loretta Young's sister Georgianna.

"Why do movie and television award winners always thank their WIVES?"

This is a major mystery. Possible solutions: their wives put them through acting school; or kept the garret tidy until The Big Break came; or shut up the kids while daddy learned his lines; or granted him a divorce when the beast became interested in his leading lady.

"What is Patrick McGoohan really like?"

Very few really know. One tion of Mysterious McGoohan himself.

"When television and radio personalities leave one station to go to another, why don't they ever make an announcement? Even if they don't want to give them a decent burial, isn't the public entitled to an obituary at least?"

A surprising shortage of good talent in most cities has created such a brisk traffic in performers that the courtesy of a plug for a competitor is out of the question. This is characteristic of the entire broadcasting world where familiar faces never fade away—someone just pulls out the plug.
